VARIOUS MATTERS

Quince trees are in bloom.

Every smooth sidewalk is now a roller skating rink.

Lawns and foliage never looked more attractive.

Sudden April showers in May caused much ill temper yesterday.

German Lutheran churches observed Sunday, May 8, as Mission Sunday.

Strawberries reaching northern markets this week are coming from Maryland.

Any dancing round the May pole now would be principally to keep warm.

In this week of the comet's nearness the superstitious will worry over Friday, the 13th.

Yesterday was St. Gregory's day in the church calendar. Today St. Antoninus is commemorated.

Green cherries and pears already covering the trees and seem to be growing rapidly in spite of chilly weather.

In some of the French Catholic churches Sunday, May 8, was the feast of the Ascension, which was Thursday.

The tax collector's office will be open Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday evenings until 8 o'clock. Interest will be added after Wednesday, May 11—adv.

Each local branch is entitled to send two delegates to the twelfth annual convention of the International Sunshinians society May 19, 20 and 21, in New Haven.

During May the planet Jupiter is in a fine position, and may be well seen with a small telescope. The bright star near Jupiter is the double star Gamma in the constellation Virgo.

The rains washed off some of the angle blossoms, but there are many left. A trolley or train trip up into Windham county is a delight these days, when the trees are at their best.

George S. Champlin of North Stonington states that he made at his place Thursday, Friday and Saturday mornings of last week, but he does not think his strawberry plants were injured as the buds are still small.

ART STUDENTS' ASSOCIATION.
 Lesser Italian Artists of the Venetian School of the Sixteenth Century Portrayed.

The regular monthly meeting of the Art Students' association was held at the Schoolhouse club Monday evening. At the business session, the president, Mrs. F. A. Roth, presided. Reports from various committees were heard and Miss Mary Aiken read an article concerning the picture by Peter Paul Rubens, which was recently purchased by the Metropolitan Museum of Art.

The programme, in charge of Miss Ida M. Ufford and Miss Rose Kronig, portrayed the lesser Italian artists of the Venetian school of the sixteenth century. An interesting story of the life of Palma Vecchio, the painter and friend of Titian, was read by Miss Ufford. Reproductions of his principal paintings were shown, his best work probably being the Santa Barbara in the church of Santa Maria della Salute in Venice. The life of Sebastiano del Piombo, another Venetian artist, was interestingly portrayed by Miss D. D. Reno and George A. Turner.

After the meeting in headquarters, the artist after he became a pupil of Michelangelo in Rome, were read. At the close of the meeting light refreshments were served by the house committee.

CONCLUDES VISIT HERE.
 Joe the Turk Goes to Willimantic Tonight and Then to New London.

The concluding musical service here by Joe the Turk was held Monday evening in an open air meeting on the lawn of the headquarters of the Salvation Army headquarters on the same street. The rain cut short the open air service and also made the attendance at the concert not so large as it would have been otherwise.

Captain Douglas introduced Joe the Turk at the meeting in headquarters, then giving the entertainment into Joe's hands. An enjoyable programme of sacred songs was given, and an electrical umbrella in nine colors was unveiled. A feature which Joe said was original with himself, it disclosed an electrically lighted goddess of Liberty.

Joe the Turk also took opportunity to proclaim the gospel message, and Captain Douglas announced that they would leave for Willimantic tonight, for an outdoor meeting. Joe goes to New London on Wednesday, and will probably stay there until Friday. Captain Thorne of the New London corps attended the meeting here on Monday night.

FOURTH BIRTHDAY PARTY
 Given Lillian Mae Rogers by Her Parents—Jolly Time and a Number of Gifts.

Mr. and Mrs. Jay W. Rogers gave a party at their home on the East Side, Saturday afternoon from 2 to 6 o'clock, in honor of the fourth birthday of their little daughter, Lillian Mae. Games were played, and Gladys Williamson won the prize offered for the best finding the most peanuts. The little guests sat down to a table filled with cake, assorted candies, lemonade and ice cream, with a birthday cake lighted with four candles for the center. Those present were Captain Douglas, Royce, Gladys Williamson, Eleanor Byrnes, William Douglas, John Williamson and Clifford Rogers. The little girl proved a delightful hostess and received many little gifts.

Midsummer Convention at Eastern Point.
 The New England section of the National Electric Light association, of which Alexander H. Campbell of New London, formerly of this city, is president, will hold its semi-annual meeting at the Hotel Greenvale in September. The meeting will continue two days in the week of September 6, probably on Friday and Saturday. It is anticipated that over 200 members will attend. The section has a membership of nearly 100. Last year the convention of the National Electric Light association, which will meet in St. Louis on May 23 to 27 inclusive, the national body has a membership of over 5,000.

Tramps Threatened West Side Man

Warren Burt Called to Door After Ten O'clock Sunday Night by Two Men, One of Whom Said House was Marked and He would Come Back.

Warren Burt, who resides in Colt street, had a most unpleasant experience Sunday night at 10 o'clock, when two different men came to his home, the first asking for something to eat, and the latter asking him to read a paper, saying later that he had the house marked, and that he would come back. It was about ten o'clock when he answered the first knock at the door. He found a tall man there who asked for something to eat. Because of the late hour Mr. Burt told him he didn't think he could get him anything and the fellow went away. When the second knock came at the door, Mr. Burt didn't bandy words with him, but ordered him off the premises, but before the fellow said that he had the house marked and would come back Monday.

back Monday. Mr. Burt promised to come there to read the paper, but as he was expected, he failed to show up.

The two men were tramps in the belief of Mr. Burt, there being many strangers following the railroad line, near which Mr. Burt's house is located. The police were looking for the men Sunday night, Mr. Burt having informed them directly after the second knock at the door, but neither could be found. That section of the city was thoroughly scoured and four of the force were looking throughout the remainder of the night for them, but it was without result. It is thought they probably went up the Central Vermont track after leaving the house as they were seen to go down the lane to Mr. Burt's house.

Mr. Burt said the first man was about six feet tall and quite slim. He wore dark clothing and a second man was shorter and talked like a foreigner.
